You have to have an idea of what you want to do but it should be a vague idea.

– Pablo Picasso

I could not agree more with Picasso for the adventure begins as the idea unravels. Something nebulous, a little tenuous adds to the inscrutability of the process involved.

Sleepless nights and restless days are a part of my life but I would not have it any other way. For there is no greater joy than the pinning down of an elusive idea and till then it is the thrill of the chase!

For me design is a process of incessant evolution and my objects are subject to this continuity. The compilation of the objects in this catalogue is a testament to my belief and some eureka moments.

I am a slave to ideas – vaguer the better!
